Despite Prayer Vigil

Fire 11th A-Bomb

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission unswervingly fired the 11th in its summer series of nuclear devices today while pacifists conducted a prayer vigil 30 miles away.

The device was triggered at 7:25 a. m. e.d.t. from its suspension equipment hanging from a 67-foot diameter balloon at a height of approximately 1,500 feet above Yucca Flat. Its yield was estimated as nominal, probably equal to 20,000 tons of TNT.

Troops from Ft. Lewis, Wash., scheduled to take part in maneuvers later in the series, sat at the observation point some 10 miles from ground zero in full battle dress. Also at the view point were 30 Canadian soldiers from Calgary.

Just before shot time the balloon holding the device was clearly visible in the dawn-breaking sky.

The blast violently shook observers on News Nob and an unmanned Navy blimp drifting in the sky five miles from ground zero burst into a blinding light as the shot was detonated.

AEC spokesmen said the gas bag had been equipped with magnesium flares triggered to go off simultaneously with the blast for photographic effects taken in the test. However, the shock wave smashed the front end of the blimp and it shuddered to the ground where it posed like a missile with its nose buried in the desert floor. Smoke from the flares rose skyward from the wreckage.

The flash was plainly visible in Salt Lake City, Utah, and Los Angeles. Atom-watchers in San Francisco described it as "one of the biggest flashes seen here."

Some 30 miles away a group of demonstrators conducted a prayer session against nuclear testing outside the main gates of the AEC headquarters at Mercury, Nev.

The group conducted sessions Tuesday and 11 of the demonstrators were arrested and charged with trespassing when they walked into the restricted area.

The so-called "atom-loppers" pleaded innocent and all were found guilty. They were released as imposition of sentence was suspended for a year.

Two Inquests Thursday Night

Two inquests will be held at the court house Thursday night starting at seven o'clock, Coroner James Thornton announced today.

The inquest into the death of Mrs. Ida Treat, New Haven, who died in Ferrell hospital Sunday of injuries received in an auto crash near Cottonwood, will start at 7 p. m.

At 7:30 p. m. the inquest into the death of James William Johnson, Harrisburg Route 2, who was killed Saturday night in a two-car crash on Route 45 south of Harrisburg, will be held.

City Contracts For Water in Dorris Heights

The city of Harrisburg yesterday entered into a contract with the Dorris Heights Water Board association so that Dorris Heights community can get Harrisburg city water.

The council Tuesday voted unanimously that Mayor Claud Gibbons execute the contract, and Mayor Gibbons signed it at the meeting.

The trustees of the Dorris Heights Water Board association already had signed the contract. Dorris Heights citizens for a long time now have been trying to get the Harrisburg city water system extended into their community and yesterday's action appeared to be the final paper work toward getting the project to moving.

Louie Dalton and others have appeared at many council meetings seeking city water and it was Dalton who produced the contract Tuesday, signed by the Dorris Heights trustees.

The city agreed to extend the service north to Dorris Heights and west on the Dorris Heights road, furnishing the water and pipe. Dorris Heights agreed to install pipe and meters, and maintain them under supervision of the Dorris Heights water board, until a time that the area might be part of the City of Harrisburg.

Rates and regulations will be the same as apply to residents of the city of Harrisburg.

Pact Would Bring World Disarmament, Ike Says

No Saturday Recordings, Att'y General Rules

James R. Burroughs today pointed out that laws enacted at Springfield this year have affected his office of circuit clerk and recorder.

The attorney general has ruled, he said, that one law this year makes it illegal for a recorder to record any instrument on Saturday.

However, the office will be open until noon Saturday to take care of any matters concerning the office of circuit clerk.

Another measure raises the mileage fee of persons called for jury duty from five to ten cents a mile each way.

Another provides that a fee of $5 be charged by the clerk for filing an answer to a complaint of adverse pleadings.

Farm Bureau Asks Bids on New Office Building

The Saline County Farm Bureau today advertised for bids for construction of an office building on Robinson street at Jackson.

Bids for the structure will be opened at 7 p. m. Aug. 19 at the present Farm Bureau office.

E. T. Thomas, consulting engineer, said plans, which were accepted by the Farm Bureau board of directors Monday night, call for a building of 60 by 40 feet dimensions.

The structure will have a brick veneer front and the rest of the exterior will be of concrete blocks. It will contain a full basement, and 12 office rooms, large lobby and reception room on the main floor.

The plans call for air conditioning as well as heating.

The legal advertisement for bids points out that copies of the concrete documents, including plans and specifications, are on file at the Farm Bureau office and in the office of Mr. Thomas. These may be obtained for $10.

Eugene Lamkin of Harrisburg township is chairman of the Saline County Farm Bureau Building committee.

L. H. Johnson Named
Safety Representative
In U. S. Bureau of Mines

L. H. "Happy" Johnson, former Peabody Coal Co. safety director who has been living at Taylorville since leaving Harrisburg in 1951, has been appointed safety representative in the U. S. Bureau of Mines and will be headquartered at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. Johnson, a Peabody man in this area for many years, and Mrs. Johnson are visiting in Eldorado this week with Mrs. Johnson's sister, Mrs. Ruth Sanders.

Ridgway Parishioners Honor the Rev. John C. Venegoni's Silver Jubilee

Rev. John Venegoni, pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Ridgway, observed his Silver Jubilee Sunday with close relatives and members of the parish being on hand for the occasion.

Father Venegoni was ordained in Innsbruck, Austria, on March 13, 1932, but recited his first Mass in America at Herrin on August 7, 1932. His Silver Jubilee High Mass was Sunday morning at 9:00 o'clock and was attended by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Venegoni of Herrin.

Other immediate members of the family included all but one of his brothers and sisters. A sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Venegoni of Peoria, were unable to be present.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Venegoni, Mr. and Mrs. Umberto Venegoni, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Venegoni, Miss Louisa Venegoni and Anthony Venegoni, all of Herrin, and Sister Mary Norma Ad. P.P.S. of Vienna, Mo. She was accompanied by a cousin, Sister Loretta Ad. P.P.S. of Taylorville, Ill.

The refreshment and social hour was held from 2:00 to 4:00 in the afternoon in the school basement. A huge cake containing 560 servings was the center of attraction. It was baked by Mrs. Joseph Collins, one of the parishioners.

It was more than three feet high and measured about 3x5 feet at the base. It was decorated with angels, chalice, rosaries, etc., all made of candy beads and cake decoration. Some 520 eggs were used in making this angel food masterpiece. The cake and punch were served to the several hundred who attended.

The honoree received many nice gifts including large purses from the parish, Altar Society, Holy Name Society and the Knights of Columbus, Council 1581. He also, at the Mass, wore gold vestments presented by his mother, and an alb of Italian cutwork made by an aunt in Herrin.

Father Venegoni came to Ridgway on December 9, 1955, after serving more than 12 years as pastor of St. Joseph's in Benton, where he built a new church. Prior to this appointment he had served as assistant pastor at St. Andrew's in Murphysboro, at Holy Angels Church in East St. Louis, St. Mary's at Carlyle and St. Mary's at Herrin. He also had served as chaplain at St. Anne's Home in Chester and as chaplain at the Security Hospital in Menard before being assigned to Benton.

He also has been chaplain at Menard prison where he converted 225 inmates into the Catholic religion.

Will Name McElroy

Eisenhower to Nominate Soap Manufacturer to Wilson Post

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower announced today that he plans to nominate soap manufacturer Neil H. McElroy to succeed Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense.

He said the actual nomination will not be made, however, until the Cincinnati businessman passes an extensive but routine government investigation of his fitness for the key Cabinet post.

The President said Wilson notified him some time ago that he wanted to leave the Cabinet before the Defense Department starts this fall to prepare next year's budget.

Eisenhower called McElroy one of the most capable men in America.

McElroy, 52-year-old president of Procter and Gamble, conferred with the Chief Executive for 15 minutes at the White House Tuesday following a second conference with Wilson at the Defense Department.

He went to an office adjoining Wilson's to study the scope of the job before going to the White House. McElroy originally was scheduled to leave Washington Tuesday afternoon.

The $285,000-a-year businessman will be accepting a $25,000 job.

Wilson has not resigned but has indicated he wants to leave the Eisenhower "team" no later than this fall.

Prison Guards to Get Pay Raises

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The state Public Safety Department today announced Illinois prison guards will receive pay raises under the new state personnel code.

Public Safety Director Joseph D. Bibb said the new starting salary for guards is $286 a month, an increase of $192 a year over the starting pay last year.

Guards receiving $290 a month in 1956 and having two years experience will be raised to a maximum of $350 a month over a period of two years.

President Hopes Soviets Will Accept Proposal

Declines to Say
If He Will Veto
Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today that world disarmament would follow almost automatically from any East-West agreement to free the world from the fear of surprise attack.

If progress is made on relieving the world of the fear of surprise attack, the President said this would be the greatest ray of hope on the dark world scene since he has been in the White House.

Eisenhower told his news conference that he has the utmost hope that the Soviet Union will agree to the latest American-Allied proposals for aerial and ground inspection zones. These proposals were put before Russia by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at the London disarmament talks.

Other major points in his news conference:

—The jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill as adopted by the Senate would seriously hamper the operations of the federal courts system. He declined to say whether he would veto the rights bill if it reaches him in the Senate form. But he restated his opposition to the amendment.

—He has a successor in mind to replace John Hollister as head of the International Cooperation Administration, but Hollister has promised to remain in his post at the President's convenience.

—He dismissed as unsequential a comment by Rep. Cleveland H. Bailey (D-W.Va.) who last week described Eisenhower as a "lousy liar" in connection with defeat of the school construction bill.

—He expressed great admiration for the Republican senatorial candidate in Wisconsin, Walter Kohler. He said he had not been approached to take an active part in the Wisconsin campaign, but he would like to go on record as one of Kohler's great admirers and he would like to see Kohler elected.

—He defended his acceptance of gifts, which was criticized by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.). Eisenhower said that most gifts he had received since entering the White House came from large, voluntary organizations and that he had never accepted anything from a business or a corporation. He also said that anything given to him had been on the record and not hidden.

—He conceded that he might not have been as active as he should in combating discrimination against women. He was asked why he had not been as active in fighting discrimination because of sex as he had against racial discrimination.

Judge Reynolds to Set September Docket

Judge C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna will be in court here Aug. 16 to set the docket for the September term of circuit court, which will begin Sept. 9.

Chicago Reporter Praises Assets Of Harrisburg

CHARLEY CLEVELAND, Chicago Daily News writer, has been giving southern Illinois some boosts recently that could not be bought with dollars.

He toured the area, then went back to Chicago and started a series of articles. I did not meet Mr. Cleveland when he came into Egypt, but I wish I had. But State Senator Glen O. Jones did meet him and took him around.

Want to know Mr. Cleveland's reaction to a visit in Harrisburg? This is what he wrote about our city:

"Harrisburg is typical of many southern Illinois cities. State Sen. Glen O. Jones took me on a couple hours' Cook's tour of his town."

"Here is what I saw:

"An up-to-date, well-run daily newspaper with a better than 7-100 circulation. They also put out some lively weekly and monthly publications for the surrounding countryside."

"A radio station that's been running since 1923. And with some fancy know-how they've boosted their 250-watt set to reaches a 60 to 80-mile radius. They also run a companion FM station."

"A modern TV station which carries national network shows and quite a bit of local live programming. It employs three announcers."

"A men's store as lavish as any in a big city. A furniture store with Marshall Field-type merchandise. An up-to-date three-story department store."

"A seven million dollar bank as modern as any Chicago suburb can boast."

"Elsewhere around the square were equally up-to-date enterprises."

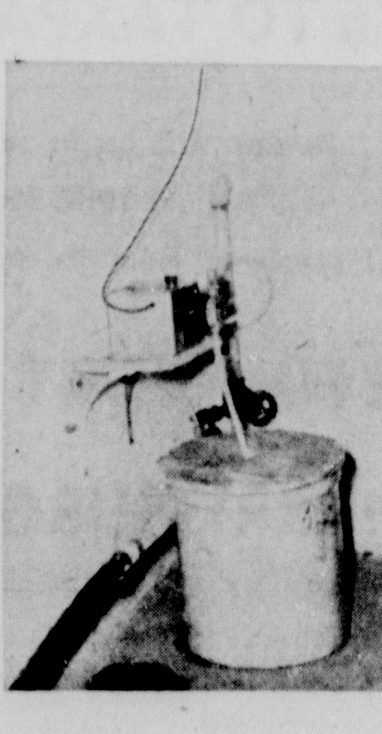

"A few blocks away was a recently built Methodist church. It was brick and beautiful."

Pond Water Field Day Held at George Aydelott Farm

A NEW WATER SYSTEM, recently completed at the George Aydelott farm, making pond water safe for all purposes, including drinking, was demonstrated to a large number of interested persons Tuesday. The system, constructed at a cost of approximately $1,000, includes—from the left, a 1/2-acre pond, with usable capacity of 700,000 gallons of water. Tom Morgan, at left, Saline County Conservationist, explained to those present the pond construction, depending on soil and other conditions, would range from $300 to $700; water flows by gravity through a 1 1/4-inch plastic pipe to filter, 8 feet high six feet square, made of 6-inch reinforced concrete. The filter has a capacity of 3 feet of water, which filters through 3 feet of sand and 3 layers of graded gravel. The maximum filter rate for this size filter is 2 gallons per minute and will provide the normal home requirement in 3 hours per day. Material cost for filter is approximately $100; from filter, water flows to chlorinator, which injects a measured amount of chlorine solution in proportion to rate of water flow. This type of chlorinator costs about $150; water then flows to a cistern (not pictured) with storage capacity of more than 4,000 gallons. This type and size water storage reservoir can be provided for a material cost of about $150; then the water is pumped from cistern into the home water system and the George Aydelott family happily drink pure water which pours from the kitchen sink faucet that came from a comparatively muddy farm pond about a quarter of a mile up the hill from the home. The Aydelotts have also extended the water system to the barn and have a livestock watering trough that includes a heating unit so there will be no ice to break during the cold winter months before the stock can get an early morning drink. The system as constructed meets all health requirements. Tuesday's field day was sponsored by the Illinois Farm Electrification Council, with REA, CIPS and Illinois Power Co. representatives, among others, present to aid in the guided tours. ## Fear and School Aid

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Federal aid to education may not yet be dead as an issue, but it is certainly closer to that state than it has ever been in the past 10 years or more.

When the House narrowly defeated the 1957 school construction bill, the move represented not simply a delaying action but a vast discouragement to future advocacy of federal aid.

Democratic managers of the measure blamed President Eisenhower for not putting on enough pressure at Capitol Hill.

Others pinned responsibility for the defeat on the attachment of the now habitual amendment which would bar aid funds to those areas maintaining segregation.

Naturally enough, both Republican and Democratic leaders want to blame their rivals.

But all this verbal backing and filling cannot obscure the fact that school aid was not really sufficiently popular in either party to gain the day in Congress.

It has been pretty well established by votes in former years that legislators use the anti-segregation amendment to conceal opposition which actually is economic and against big government.

Clearly there is a good deal of genuine fear that federal entry into the school picture means not just needed financial help but permanent encroachment. The evidence suggests that in 1957 that fear was stronger than before.

Perhaps heavier intervention by Mr. Eisenhower could have saved the bill in the House, though it may have had even tougher going in the Senate. But whatever the degree of presidential pressure, the basic attitude of Congress does not seem friendly to this legislation.

Now that the issue has been decided in the negative, it might be well to let it rest a while. There is something enervating about the process of bringing up a measure year after year without interruption.

In the time ahead, fresh stock can be taken. The conflicting claims of the advocates and opponents can be weighed again, in the light of the newest evidence of the states' own ability to carry the school load. Then we can see whether the issue ought truly to be allowed to die, or should be revived.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Lyndon Johnson Performed Political Miracle In Passing Jury Trial Amendment; Fifty Federal Statutes Will Be Less Enforceable Because Of Jury Trial Clause; Did Johnson Outsmart Himself?

WASHINGTON.—It's the unanimous opinion of Senate observers that passage of the jury trial amendment and the civil rights bill without a filibuster can be attributed solely to Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas. They also agree that his backstage maneuvering was sheer genius and that he should go down as the greatest political general of all time.

There is no unanimity of opinion, however, on whether the bill, as amended, was good for the United States, good for General Motors, or even good for Lyndon Johnson.

Probably it won't be good for Lyndon Johnson, because what he wanted most of all was to keep civil rights out of the 1958 election debate, and it now appears certain that Republicans in the House or Eisenhower in the White House will block the bill, and it will be thrown into the 1959 maelstrom with a vengeance.

Probably it will be good for General Motors, because under the new bill General Motors would not have to worry too much about the court decree ordering it and Du Pont to separate. It could ignore a court order and take its chances with a jury.

Probably it won't be good for the country, because trial by jury will weaken and perhaps make unenforceable such important laws as the Pure Food and Drug Act, the Antitrust laws, the Minimum Wage Act, the Davis-Bacon Act, the Walsh-Healey Act, and approximately fifty laws which are enforced by court orders. These court orders can now be side-tracked by trial by jury.

However, let's leave to the lawyers the question of whether abolition of our age-old system of court orders should or should not be wiped out. Instead, let's take a backstage look at how Lyndon Johnson accomplished his political miracle.

GOD AND JOHNSON

"No one except the Lord and Lyndon is sure exactly how he accomplished it," said one senator just after adoption of the jury trial amendment.

This reporter pretends to have no divine power of perception. But here are some of the techniques by which Lyndon accomplished the miracle—thereby perhaps outsmarting himself.

Simple Techniques — Some of his techniques were quite simple. He kept rootin', tootin' professional Southerners in the background. He kept moderate liberals and middle-of-the-roads out in front. When he heard that Jim Eastland of Mississippi was about to make a speech he went to Byrd and Virginia and Russell of Georgia and shut Eastland up. He had O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Church of Idaho, and Kefauver of Tennessee carry the ball on amendment.

Young Church, baby of the Senate, made his two amendments with careful coaching. When Bobby Baker, secretary of the Senate Democrats, sometimes called "Lyndon, Jr.," went over to him on the Senate floor, Church rose and introduced the amendments putting Negroes on juries and extending jury trials to all criminal contempt cases. It was Church who made the speech, but it was the hand of Johnson that gave the cues.

Counter-Intelligence Techniques — Johnson knew what was going on inside Republican ranks. He knew how some administration senators were kicking over the traces. When GOP senators held a secret caucus and Hickenlooper of Iowa complained that "civil rights bill trampled on the rights of white people, Lyndon knew it. He also knew that Senator Dirksen of Illinois complained that the administration had ample power to enforce the voting rights of Negroes without passing a bill. He also knew that only two Republican senators—Javits (N. Y.) and Case (N. J.)—defended the bill in caucus.

Quicker — Than — The Eye-Techniques — Lyndon also practiced some mysterious techniques that few people knew about. For more than a week before he was holding the short end of every straw poll. GOP Leader Knowland had 38 Republican votes in his pocket. Senator Douglas of Illinois, leader of northern Democrats, had nine Democratic votes.

This was why Johnson began stalling for time, asked the Senate to consider important pending bills and appropriations. He knew if the vote was held then, he was licked.

But one night before the crucial roll-call, Lyndon and Sen. Dick Russell, leader of the Southern forces, huddled in the Senate cloakroom.

"I am ready to vote," reported Russell. "We've got 50 votes." Though Russell did the reporting, it was Johnson who had won over the votes.

On the final roll-call, Russell and Johnson did one better. They got 51. Senator Douglas came through with his nine liberals against them. They stood firm against the jury trial amendment. But the Republicans didn't. Lyndon had pickpocketed five Republican votes from Knowland. He virtually took them out of the GOP leader's pocket and Knowland didn't know it until it was too late.

How did Johnson do it? The story requires more space and will be told tomorrow.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

When the crucial civil rights vote was over, Senator Dick Neuberger of Oregon remarked to Johnson's assistant, Bobby Baker: "That was the greatest Little Red Riding Hood act I have ever seen. Lyndon kept Eastland and Stennis in the wings and Kefauver, Church, and O'Mahoney before the footlights. All you could see was the bosom, not the fangs." . . . One thing that influenced Sen. Frank Church to propose his two jury trial amendments was the reading of speeches by the late Senator William Borah, also of Idaho, who, during debates on the Norris-La Guardia Act, favored trial by jury in labor injunction cases. Borah is revered as the greatest of Idaho senators. Any young senator would want to follow in his footsteps.

PIERRE, S. D. — A 15-year-old driver has been ordered to spend one hour each day visiting a woman in a hospital whose leg was amputated because of a car accident.

Louis Moore, Pierre, was given the sentence by Hughes County Juvenile Judge Otto Linstead. He also surrendered his driver's permit.

Moore drove a car that collided with one in which Mrs. Myrtle Goodface, 39, Pierre, was riding. A portion of her left leg was hurt so badly it had to be removed.

Officers said Moore's car was going at a high rate of speed.

Democrats Challenge Dulles to Name Party Contributors with Envoy Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee challenged Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today to produce the names of money-giving Democrats who got ambassadorial jobs from the Republican administration.

"We'll be glad to check on any names when Dulles comes up with them," a committee spokesman said.

A fresh flurry over ambassadors and their political campaign contributions was sparked by Dulles at a news conference Tuesday. He denied charges the administration seeks out heavy contributors to the GOP in filling diplomatic posts.

"The question of contributions is not brought to my attention," Dulles said. "I am told that we have appointed more than one ambassador who has made a substantial contribution to the Democratic campaign fund during the last year."

Asked to identify the Democrats Dulles said with a smile, "I think I know who they are but I prefer not to name them here."

The Democratic National Committee told a reporter David K. E. Bruce is the only Democrat it knows of right off who contributed to the Democratic campaign chest last year and later got a diplomatic appointment. Bruce is United States ambassador to West Germany. He was said to have chipped in $1,500 to the Democrats.

Moving Pictures Of Caribbean Area Shown at Kiwanis

Colored moving pictures of the Caribbean islands were shown to members of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple. The films were shown by the Rev. C. G. Friedley, minister of the Church of God on Land street, who toured the Caribbean area in March of 1956.

The Rev. Friedley explained the scenes of the countries where Missions were visited by the group which he accompanied on the trip. The tour began at Miami and continued to Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Dominican Republic, Haiti, Port Au Prince, Jamaica, Cuba and then the return to the United States.

A trip to most of the areas in the Caribbean and the sight of the hoveis in which many of the people live would make many Americans truly grateful for living in the United States, the Rev. Friedley stated.

Program chairman for the meeting was Ronnie Doerge. President Richard Davenport stated a tentative date of Tuesday, Aug. 27, had been made for the annual ladies' night fish fry at Cave-In-Rock.

The club members also discussed the possibility of sponsoring a Rubino concert either this fall or next spring.

Liz Gives Birth To Baby Girl

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor, wife of producer Michael Todd, had a girl by Caesarian section Tuesday, a spokesman at Columbia-Presbyterian Hospital said. The baby had not been expected until Oct. 15.

Both Mrs. Todd and the 4-pound, 14-ounce baby are doing well, the hospital said.

STAMPEDE AT BLUE SPRINGS

BY GENE OLSON

THE STORY: Trouble is brewing in Blue Springs when word spreads that a federal marshal is bringing Pete Dorsey through town by train. Years before Dorsey was the cause of the death of Barney Jethroe in a buffalo stampede. Barney's friends are waiting to get even.

The engine's whistle like to split my ears. The headlight came up to me and past, moving slow, and I saw the fire in the box. Then I was in the dark again. I looked toward the depot. Light splashed white off the ricks of bleached buffalo bones that stretched south along the tracks. There were two ears and a caboose on the train. The caboose went by me, a red lantern swinging on it, and then I heard the grind of the brakes. The train stopped. Steam shot out from the engine on the depot side and the sound was like a knife. Then it cut off, as sharp as it started. I heard the horses again on the tracks and the shadows moved against the light. I had a blind feeling and I wanted to reach out with my eyes. The black shapes moved across the tracks. A shod hoof clinked against a rail. A man yelled, sharp and clear and wild. It started a cold hand sliding up my back until it prickled under my hat.

It was partly excitement and partly that I'd come down to the depot to see what happened and now it looked like I wouldn't. I ran out to the tracks, stumbling over the ties, picking myself out of the gravel. I leaned against the back of the last car and stuck my head out around it, expecting to get it shot at. Some light from the depot cut through under the train. They were doing it all right, the men on the horses milling around by the front of a coach, shadows jerking against the light. Some of them were off the horses and going toward the coach and a couple of them started to climb up. I couldn't see their faces. Most of the light was low so I couldn't tell if it was the Clements or who it was. Right then I didn't care much about that. Even knotted-up scared like I was, I had sense enough to know I'd be better off if I didn't recognize anybody for sure.

I heard the hoof noise of the horses and their nervous snuffing. The dry smell of the dust they stirred up came strong at my nose. Somebody yelled inside the coach, and I heard somebody running. It sounded like he was heading my way. I started to get out of there, then changed my mind. I just stood, taking in everything I could see in the half-dark.

A man jumped down from the coach, going to his knees. A man cussed, like it was pounded out of him, and it stopped like a hand clapped over his mouth. About four men jumped onto the one and he went down like a horse had dropped on him.

Somebody screamed, long and wild. Then just a steady scared yell but the same voice, and it just went on and on until I could hardly stand it. I saw the man then, his head jerking with his yelling. I figured it was Pete Dorsey but I couldn't be sure. Two men were dragging him out of the coach. They pitched him to the ground and jumped after and threw him up onto a horse. He never stopped yelling like his lungs were afire.

"Ride!" somebody yelled. It sounded like Eric Clement.

Ride was what they did, every single one of them, pounding off like the prairie was burning behind them.

There was the soft hiss of steam from the engine. The train moved. Leaning against it, I jumped a foot from surprise and fell to my knees. Somebody talked loud toward the front of the train. I figured it was Conliffe talking to the trainmen. The train moved slow away from me and at first I just stayed there on my hands and knees, looking for a place to hide. There was just the one place and I headed for it, running low through the dark toward the tall grass 20 feet away. I hit it running and dropped and turned and stuck my head up. My chest hurt so I could hardly stand it and I couldn't suck in enough breath. My shirt stuck to my back with sweat, just plain scared sweat.

I watched the red lantern until it was just a little, swinging spot. The whistle sounded short and long, just like always, only tonight it was a signal putting an end to what happened.

I waited there in the grass, feeling the sweat on my back and the damp chill on my stomach. My neck was sore from lifting my head out of the grass. I rubbed until it felt better.

Somebody moved in the light from the depot on the far side of the tracks. I lifted my head. There was a man there, laying on the ground, and he moved again. I waited for Conliffe or somebody to see him and got out to help.

I looked back across the tracks. The man was sitting up. I thought: Somebody in this tin-horn town ought to go see if he's hurt bad.

I was plenty scared. But I got up and looked around quick and started over there, expecting all kinds of trouble every time I put a foot down. The man was rubbing the back of his head and squinting at me coming toward him. The light struck off shiny metal on his shirt. I knew then this was the marshal. I went up close, slow. There was some blood on his cheek, high. His eyes kept into me and told me to keep my distance. I got a good look at his face.

I knew that face. I'd seen it in newspapers half a dozen times. I had two of the pictures tacked up in my room. Every man and boy in Nebraska knew what he looked like and what kind of marshal he was.

It was Harney Blanchard.

Blanchard's eyes held onto me. Then slow, he lifted himself up and looked south after the train. I wanted to say something that I felt but I didn't know how. He picked up his hat, a dark-colored one, and crimped it and put it on. He opened his coat. He had a gun hanging in an open holster well up on his right leg.

He said, "Do you know what happened?" His voice was pitched low and he used it soft. But there was an edge on it.

"I know about Dorsey," I said. "Do you know who got him?" I thought about that. A man had to watch his mouth. "I can't say."

"Is there a telegraph operator in the depot?"

"Sure," I said. Blanchard turned to the depot. The building went dark. I heard a door slam and somebody moved on the bricks, by the side door, and then toward Chicago St. I figured it was Conliffe, heading home.

"Mr. Conliffe!" I yelled. It was Conliffe, all right. He rounded the corner. He didn't even look back.

"Never mind," Blanchard said. Blanchard looked down Depot St., then headed toward the hotel, walking so fast I had trouble keeping up. At the corner, in the light, he stopped. I hung back until he motioned to me. I stepped out into the light. His eyes took my size like a pair of knives scraping at my leather, looking for the under-color. Then his eyes left me and he leaned against the hotel and tipped back his hat.

He said, "Town marshal. Where might I find him?"

I pointed to McNabb's office. "Four doors down," I said.

Blanchard nodded. He looked to be about 35 years old. He wasn't a big man, like Dan Clement was big, but there was size enough to him. Broad through the shoulders and back.

Blanchard stopped in front of the marshal's office. He touched the padlock on the door. I veered to the edge of the boardwalk and watched.

He turned to me. "Marshal at home?"

I nodded. "Won't do much good, more'n likely. McNabb quit." Blanchard's head tipped toward the depot. "Over that?"

"Maybe," I said, remembering to be careful. Blanchard took three long steps and put his hand on my shoulder. "Who are you?"

I shrugged. "I live here. Name's Pike Ambrose."

"Where does McNabb live?" "Down that way," I said, pointing. I started off across Chicago, heading for McNabb's. I noticed then how empty and quiet the street was. Two wagons were left by Carter's store. Not half a dozen horses were racked. And just a few lights showing. Not as dead as it looks, I thought. Walking up Depot St. toward McNabb's, I thought about the folks inside in the dark, watching.

I went up to the door and rapped. I saw the light come up in the parlor and then McNabb opened the door halfway and stood looking at me.

"There's a man here wants to see you," I said. "A marshal from Omaha City. Harney Blanchard, his name is."

I heard McNabb suck in breath. Blanchard stepped up out of the dark. McNabb looked hard at him. McNabb started to close the door.

"Wait," Blanchard said, a little sharp, and held the door open. "He says you're marshal."

"I was," McNabb said. He sounded sad.

"I had trouble here tonight," Blanchard said. "Thought you might talk to me."

"None of my affair, not any more," McNabb said, fast. "Talk to Jordan Peterson." "The new marshal?" McNabb shook his head. "There's no marshal." McNabb could be muley when he wanted to be. He wanted to now. Blanchard saw it, too. He said, "Much obliged." He let the door close and stepped off the porch into the dark. I caught up to Blanchard on Depot St. He said, "Now the town judge."

Employer Admits His Firm Kept Union Dues from Employees

WASHINGTON — An electric broiler maker admitted to the Senate Labor Rackets Committee today that his firm kept $23,600 in union dues that had been deducted from its employees' pay because it was in "financial difficulties."

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), denounced the practice as "disgraceful." He said the company kept the dues with the permission of Bernard Talkow, a henchman of New York labor racketeer Johnny Dio. Kennedy said the practice ought to be made a crime.

The businessman, Irving Jacobson, executive vice president of Roto-Broil Corp. of America, New York, conceded that he and two partners each made about $30,000 a year at the time the company was holding back part of the union dues of its low-paid employees.

Two other Dio lieutenants refused to answer the committee's questions.

The silent treatment the committee received from Dio's associates, all officials of Dio-controlled locals of the AFL United Auto Workers in the New York area, moved Chairman John L. McClelland (D-Ark.) to declare that Congress must protect working people from "unscrupulous" labor leaders.

McClelland said it will be necessary in some instances to "liberate them from the vise of evil which now grips them."

Dio Testifies Thursday

The committee wanted to question the two Dio associates called at its morning session about links between AFL Auto Workers Union locals dominated by Dio and "paper locals" in the Teamsters Union which were chartered at the request of Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa.

In the course of the testimony: —Frank Easton, one tie between Dio and the "paper" locals, refused to say whether he had been ordered to keep silent by Hoffa. He invoked the Fifth Amendment 88 times.

—Joseph George Snyder refused to identify a "Dear Friend John" letter sent to Dio to request an AFL-UAW charter and signed with Snyder's name.

Sen. Kennedy quickly charged that Snyder, now president of one of the Teamsters locals, was "challenging" the ethical practices code of the AFL-CIO. The code calls for the removal of union officials who claim the protection of the Fifth Amendment.

The senator said Snyder was "a test case of the good faith of the Teamsters." He said Snyder should quit or be removed.

McClelland said the same statement might well apply to Easton who was president of Dio's Local 224 UAW-AFL and then was listed president and a trustee of Local 269 of the Teamsters.

Southern Railway Rejects Rate Hike Authorized by ICC

WASHINGTON — The Southern Railway System drew congressional praise today for refusing to raise its freight rates even though authorized to do so by the government.

However a large New York bank was a target for heavy criticism for increasing its interest rate—a move due to be followed by other banks.

The Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday authorized nationwide freight rate hikes of 4 to 7 per cent to meet increased costs. The railroads as a whole had asked for more.

Harry A. DeButts, president of the Southern Railway, called a news conference in San Francisco to announce his road would reject the hike, even going to court if necessary to fight it.

He said his railroad feels "that the constant upward spiral of freight rates is pricing us out of the market."

To Arraign Four Club Operators in Alexander County

CAIRO, Ill. — Four night club operators faced arraignment in Alexander County Court for allegedly possessing gambling equipment.

Howard Bajer, lessee of the Purple Crackle Club; Bill Leland, operator of the Colony Club, and Lionel Thornton, who runs the Thunderbird Club, will be arraigned today.

The El Patio Inc. operators of the El Patio will be arraigned Aug. 13.

A state police raid during the weekend on the four Cairo area night spots disclosed gaming devices in the establishment.

Charged with Illegal Transportation of Liquor

Charles Kennedy has been charged with illegal transportation of liquor in an information on file in county court. At present Kennedy is in jail serving time in lieu of a fine of $150 and costs imposed upon him when he pleaded guilty to a drunken driving charge Monday. Officers said liquor was found in the car with the seal broken.

Navy to Probe Collision of Subs

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UP) — Atlantic Fleet Headquarters of the U. S. Navy appoints a board of inquiry today to investigate the underwater collision of two submarines off the New Jersey coast.

The submarines Tusk and Coblentz collided at 4:39 a. m. e.d.t. Tuesday during routine maneuvers in the Atlantic about 100 miles south of this submarine base.

No injuries were reported by either vessel. Each of the undersea craft carried a crew of 4 enlisted men and 8 officers.

Neither submarine shipped water and both were able to navigate under their own power into wet docks at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corps. in nearby Groton for repairs.

Fire Destroys Claborn Norman Home at Pankeyville

Fire destroyed the home and contents of Mrs. Claborn Norman, Pankeyville, during the noon hour today.

Mrs. Norman was at home at the time, but the origin of the fire was not immediately determined.

The Harrisburg fire department was called, but the house was in flames when the truck arrived. Firemen used the auxiliary pump on the truck to pump water from a neighbor's well to use in fighting the blaze.

Ask Bids by Illinois Banks for State Funds To Be Deposited

SPRINGFIELD — The state treasurer's office has sent requests for bids to all Illinois banks for state funds to be deposited.

The bids must be returned in 36 days. Then the treasurer's office has 30 days additional time to process the bids.

The low bidding bank must be granted the state deposits. The present bids are for interest rates beginning Oct. 1.

Rites Thursday for Mrs. Rilla Morse

The funeral of Mrs. Rilla Morse, 84, who died in the Harrisburg hospital, Tuesday, will be held at the Dorrisville Social Brethren church at 2 p. m. Thursday. Rev. Clifford Potter will officiate and burial will be in the Sunset Hill cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the home of her son, Lee Morse, 28 West McHaney street, Harrisburg, until time for the funeral.

Elks' Ladies' Night Dinner Tonight

Elks and their ladies are reminded that tonight is another Ladies' Night at the lodge, with baked steak and peach cobbler the feature items on the menu. Dinner will be served at 7:00, and is free, as usual.

As originally planned, the Ladies' Night events were scheduled for the second and fourth Wednesdays of every month. However, the entertainment committee felt that this plan would cause some confusion in months containing five Wednesdays, so the schedule has been changed to every other Wednesday until further notice.

Those planning to attend are reminded that the large crowds make it desirable to be there early, the committee said.

Good Attendance at Beulah Camp Meeting

Good attendance and excellent services are being enjoyed at the annual Beulah camp meeting at Eldorado. There are three services each day and evening and will continue this week through Sunday evening service.

On Thursday there will be several outstanding missionaries who will speak. The public is invited to all services. Several of the churches in this vicinity are dismissing their midweek services in deference to the camp meeting. The First Methodist church will not have its regular service tonight for that reason.

Wilson Orders Military to Halt Civilian Hiring

WASHINGTON (UP) — An order to the military services to slash civilian employment was the latest piece of "bad news" handed out by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson in his final days as a cabinet officer.

Wilson, whose successor was expected to be announced today, ordered the services Tuesday to halt civilian hiring immediately and work out plans for reduced civilian employment.

The military services presently hire 1,160,914 civilians around the world. They were given until the end of this month to come up with a reduced figure.

In another move the Defense Department announced plans today to pull the 9th Marine Regiment out of Japan and send it to Okinawa. This was not a manpower cut, however, but a step in announced plans to get all U. S. ground forces out of Japan promptly. The regiment numbers 5,000 to 7,000 men.

Wilson had forecast further efforts to save money at his news conference last week when he said "not all the bad news is out yet, I'm sorry to say."

He told how he had to cut spending by $2,200,000,000 to keep under a 38 billion dollar spending ceiling for the 12 months ending next June 30.

About Town And Country

landscaped. Inside, the walls were pure white. There was a large auditorium with modern Sunday school classrooms, a beautiful small chapel and an attractive church-proper which seats more than 700 persons.

"Pretty good for a town of our size (11,000)," Sen. Jones said.

"Pretty good for a town of any size, I thought."

Now the above is one Chicago reporter's view of our city. That shows we have some nice physical assets.

Let's be proud of them and above all let's be polite to strangers and answer their questions with a showing of knowledge and pride. For we never know, Charley Cleveland may be back some time getting a story about the people of Harrisburg. And if Charley never comes back for a story, no telling the reason somebody might be questioning you about our town. He might be looking for a place to locate something good.

Thompsonville Farmer Dies of Injuries

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. — Henry Mabry, 71, a Thompsonville farmer, died Tuesday following injuries he received in a tractor-truck collision last week.

Mabry received serious injuries when his tractor was hit by a truck on a county road just east of here.

The man had been in Union hospital in West Frankfort since the accident.

Williams to Resign If Replacement Named

want to vacate until there is an agreement.

Reviews Accomplishments

"I'm willing to meet with the group to discuss a replacement," Mayor Gibbons said. "I'm for the betterment of the city."

Williams reviewed the accomplishments of the present city administration, which really have been outstanding, especially considering the bickering that has gone on at many meetings.

He said the city is in good financial condition despite the money spent on streets the past two summers and said that one thing he wanted to get going before he got out was a modern street lighting system for uptown Harrisburg.

At the outset of the meeting, Mayor Gibbons had written into the minutes objections to the last council meeting at which the subject of selecting police and firemen pension boards and a board of police commissioners was taken up.

The mayor said the council was to vote on naming all three boards, that the pension boards were selected but not the third group.

Confirmation Held Up

"It (the meeting) was called for the purpose of naming the boards and my appointees for the board of police and firemen commissioners were objected to before the names were read, and after they were read they were objected to by Police Chief Ross Lane, who is not a member of the council," the mayor said in stating the objections he wanted written in the minutes.

The annual levy ordinance was given first reading and bills were allowed.

An appointment of Chester Estes to the fire department, to bring the number of regulars up to four, was brought up by Commissioner Hine, who asked for confirmation. The matter was held up until City Attorney George B. Lee could get an opinion on the validity of such an appointment.

Oliver Hardy, Film Comedian, Dies

HOLLYWOOD — Oliver Hardy, the rotund partner of the famed Laurel and Hardy movie comedy team, died of the results of a paralytic stroke today. He was 65.

The plump comedian, who won worldwide acclaim with Stan Laurel over a span of more than two decades, succumbed at the Burbank home of his mother-in-law after a long illness. His wife for 17 years, Lucille, was by his side. They had no children.

The wild cattle of Paraguay are said to be almost immune to disease.

Collie Named Dog Hero of Year

CHICAGO (U)—Blaze, a Collie who battled an enraged sow to save the life of a child, today was named the nation's "dog hero" for the year.

Blaze won the award for his rescue of 2 1/2-year-old Laurel Hecox on her parents' farm at Timewell, Ill.

A dog food manufacturer (Kendall-Ration) will present him with a gold-plated collar and leash. His owners, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hecox, will get a $1,000 U. S. bond.

Blaze's heroics took place last September when the little girl climbed into an enclosure to look at some baby pigs. The sow attacked, knocking the child to the ground.

Blaze leaped the fence and drove the sow away. The child crawled back through the fence. She suffered bites, cuts, bruises and lost four teeth. Hospitalized in serious condition, she was under a doctor's care for three weeks.

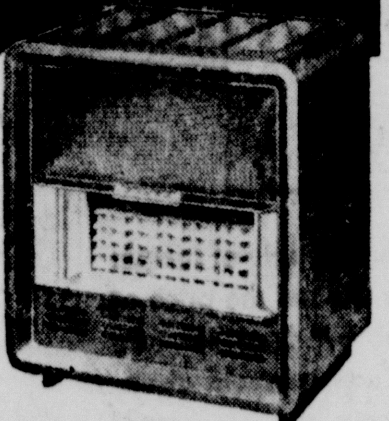

Her parents and the doctor agreed she would have been killed if the dog had not intervened.

ASSESSMENT LIST

Herewith is a list of personal property assessments as made by the township assessor for Harrisburg township Outside the City of Harrisburg and returned to MAYNARD CANNON, County Treasurer and Supervisor of Assessments of Saline County, Illinois.

The assessed values shown are subject to revision by the Saline County Board of Review and to equalization by the State Department of Revenue. Under Provisions of Section 146 of the Illinois Revenue Act of 1939 as amended in 1945, the Department of Revenue is required to determine the percentage relationship within each county of assessed value and the estimated full, fair cash value. Upon the basis of such data, the Department is required to raise or lower the total locally assessed values so that all such property will be assessed at its full, fair cash value.

These equalized values then become the base for tax extension for 1957 taxes, payable in 1958, and indicate the full, fair cash value of the properties assessed, based on the assessed values as made by the local assessment officials.

This publication, which is made in accordance with section 103 of the Revenue Act, serves as public notice to the taxpayers of the County of assessed values fixed upon their property by the township assessors.

ASSESSMENT LIST

Herewith is a list of personal property assessments as made by the township assessor of Stonefort township and returned to MAYNARD CANNON, County Treasurer and Supervisor of Assessments of Saline County, Illinois.

The assessed values shown are subject to revision by the Saline County Board of Review and to equalization by the State Department of Revenue. Under Provisions of Section 146 of the Illinois Revenue Act of 1939 as amended in 1945, the Department of Revenue is required to determine the percentage relationship within each county of assessed value and the estimated full, fair cash value. Upon the basis of such data, the Department is required to raise or lower the total locally assessed values so that all such property will be assessed at its full, fair cash value.

These equalized values then become the base for tax extension for 1957 taxes, payable in 1958, and indicate the full, fair cash value of the properties assessed, based on the assessed values as made by the local assessment officials.

This publication, which is made in accordance with section 103 of the Revenue Act, serves as public notice to the taxpayers of the County of assessed values fixed upon their property by the township assessors.

Spahn Beats Reds, 5-4, to Put Braves Back in First; Cubs Drop Cardinals, 8-2

By United Press
Warren Spahn ran into his "cousins" from Cincinnati just in time to pitch the Milwaukee Braves back into first place in the National League pennant scramble. During his 13-year major league career, Spahn always has been a rough hombre for Cincinnati to deal with. So when the Redlegs showed up at Milwaukee's County Stadium Tuesday night, Manager Fred Haney just tossed a ball to the Buffalo, N. Y., native and said, "Go get 'em, Warren." Spahn had finished only one of his last seven starts, but the sight of those Redlegs in their sleeveless shirts was all he needed. Although the veteran southpaw allowed nine hits, he hung on gamely to gain his fourth victory of the season over the Redlegs, 5-4, and boost the Braves back into first place, a half game ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Braves scored their decisive run in the sixth on a double by rookie outfielder Bob Hazle.

Cards Now Second
The Chicago Cubs dropped St. Louis into second place by whipping the Cardinals, 8-2; the Pittsburgh Pirates broke an eight-game losing streak at the expense of the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-3, and the New York Giants blanked the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-0, in other National League games.

The New York Yankees increased their American League lead to seven games by stopping the Washington Senators, 4-0; the Kansas City Athletics presented new manager Harry Craft with a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox; the Cleveland Indians trounced the Detroit Tigers, 5-1, and the Baltimore Orioles edged the Boston Red Sox, 2-1.

Bob Rush, the Cubs' hard-luck right-hander, pitched his first complete game of the season against the Cardinals, allowing only six hits. Stan Musial hit his 25th home run of the campaign while Bob Speake and Cal Neeman homered for the Cubs, who raked three Cardinal pitchers for 13 hits.

Ronnie Kline allowed only five hits, including a three-run homer by Harry Anderson, as he outdueled the Phillies' Jack Sanford. It was Kline's first victory since June 9 and only his third of the year against 15 losses. Sanford's record now is 14-4.

Bobby Thomson drove in three runs with two triples to back up Curt Barclay's five-hit shutout against the Dodgers.

A Cardinal wears his red hat only at the time of his appointment; he wears the baretta, or cap, at other times.

A's Beat White Sox In Craft's Debut As Team Manager

CHICAGO — Harry Craft took over the Kansas City Athletics today, encouraged by the club's first win in eight games, and determined to inject more speed into the team.

Craft's debut as manager, coming less than eight hours after he replaced Lou Boudreau, was a 3-2 success against the Chicago White Sox.

The husky 42-year-old Craft, a Kansas City coach since 1955, took a dim view of the A's immediate prospects, but he said he expected to better the club's last-place status before the curtain goes down on the current campaign.

Meanwhile, Lou Boudreau, whom Craft replaced as manager Tuesday, said he was still mulling over an offer to accept a front-office job calling for unspecified duties with the Athletics.

Last Full Day Of Drills for College Stars

CHICAGO — The College All Stars began their last full day of drills today before Friday night's annual meeting with the National Football League champions, the New York Giants.

Coach Curly Lambeau planned to continue his secret workouts for the collegians at the Northwestern training camp early today and then will send his squad through a night drill in Soldiers' Field, site of the game.

Probably Thursday the collegians will take only light drills without pads.

Lambeau stressed offensive maneuvers for the past week and was expected to continue drills on this phase today. However, his defensive platoon has been working simultaneously under assistant Coach Hank Anderson.

Lambeau has given no indication of the division of his 47-player squad into offensive and defensive units and it was likely that he would not make public what assignments his individual players will get until he takes the club on the field Friday.

The only position at where there seemed to be some certainty was that either John Brodie of Stanford or Paul Hornung of Notre Dame would be the starting quarterback on offense.

Brewer Named Assistant to Mills at U. of I.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Melvin C. Brewer, 38, has been named assistant to Athletic Director Douglas R. Mills of the University of Illinois, it was announced today.

Brewer, who has served on the Illinois athletic staff since 1947, will continue coaching duties under the new arrangement, which was effective July 1. Brewer is freshman football coach and also is closely allied with the varsity staff.

A native of Carbondale, Brewer was captain of Illinois' football team in 1939 and an outstanding guard for three seasons. Following graduation, he was line coach at Wabash college in 1940 and backfield coach at DePaul University in 1941, then entered the Navy. He served one year on the Illinois school of physical education staff in 1943-44, after which he went to Illinois Wesleyan University as head football coach and subsequently athletic director.

Brewer received both bachelor of science and master of science degrees at University of Illinois.

Mills also announced today that William Tate, 26, star fullback on Illinois' 1950-51-52 football teams, has been named as an assistant football coach, assigned primarily to the freshman squad. Tate, a native of Mattoon, also will serve as an instructor in the school of physical education on a part-time basis while completing work on a graduate degree.

Jim Wright, 24, guard on Illinois' 1952-53 basketball teams also will join the athletic staff this year, Mills announced. Wright, who will return to the campus to complete work on a graduate degree, will help Jim Bredar with freshman basketball coaching duties. He is a native of Lawrenceville.

Stratton Names 3 to School Building Group

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. Stratton today appointed three men to the School Building Commission, created by the 1957 Legislature to administer a 10-million-dollar state fund for school construction.

Stratton appointed Clayton J. Schlosser, Alton, for a term expiring in 1959; Francis W. Gurrie, La Grange, for a term expiring in 1961; George P. Lloyd, Joliet, for a term expiring in 1963.

Other members of the commission are Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction Vernon L.

Nickell and Illinois Finance Director Morton H. Hollingsworth. Under the 1957 law school districts which have exhausted their bonding power may draw on the 10-million-dollar fund to construct needed classrooms.

The commission will administer construction of the school and will lease them to the school districts.

When the rental or lease fees paid by the districts make up the cost of construction the schools become the property of the local school districts.

If the districts fail to make their rental payments the commission may terminate a lease and rent the buildings to other groups for any suitable purpose.

The leases are for a one-year period and the school districts have an option of renewal from year to year.
